The dynamic cast of Legends in Concert, Las Vegas' longest-running live tribute show at Flamingo Las Vegas, introduced Barbra Streisand to its cast of award-winning tribute artists on Monday, Sept. 29 (Pictured: Sharon Owens as Barbra Streisand – Photo credit: Gaylin Addis).

Through the end of the year, the talented Sharon Owens will honor the legendary Barbra Streisand with her uncanny resemblance and breathtaking vocal range of three full octaves. Owens found success after winning FOX TV's "Performing As..." reality competition show where she stunned audiences with her talent. Owens has been featured as the legendary singer in "Entertainment Tonight," "Access Hollywood," "Extra" and in People Magazine. With more than three decades of experience as a tribute artist, Owens continues to take audiences back in time to '60s Broadway, '70s disco and '80s films with her rendition of Barbra Streisand performances.

The addition on Sharon Owens to the Legends in Concert lineup comes as Streisand just released her 34th, best-selling studio album, "Partners." Featuring twelve harmonious duets with popular chart-topping singers such as Elvis Presley, Stevie Wonder, Lionel Richie, Billy Joel, John Legend, Michael Bublé and John Mayer, among others, Billboard reports the hit album will reach the Top 200, which would make Streisand the only person in history to have a No. 1 album in six different decades.
